Posener's Delay of a Few Days

Results in Price Advantages to Our Many Customers

PROGRESS on the new Posener Building is not quite as rapid as we had planned, so we make price advantages at our present location that are simply wonderful. Some of them are noted opposite, and a visit here Monday or any time next week will prove to you, beyond all question, that these are phenomenal millinery values.

The Present Outdoes the Past

In the past, we have not only claimed, but proven, that we at all times present for customers' selection the most attractive millinery to be procured on two continents. This season we made a particular effort, and we can say without fear of contradiction that we now have the handsomest and most exclusive showing of millinery to be seen in El Paso, or in the entire Southwest. Furthermore, you can look forward without fear of disappointment to our opening displays in the new store—they will be of dazzling brilliance.

A Word About the Beauty Parlor

Already, the furniture for the Beauty Parlor, which is to be one of the features of the new Posener establishment, has arrived and is being placed. The introduction of this perfectly appointed Beauty Parlor will supply a long felt want in El Paso, and we believe that the ladies of El Paso will watch with greatest interest its completion.

SOCIETY

HER SOLITAIRE

(By N. P. Balcock)

A burglar through the doorway crept
(To burgle I surmise),
Believing that the household slept,
And met a large surprise.

A lady, in her dressing gown,
Sat practicing the knack
Of laying certain red cards down
On other cards of black.

She did not deign to look at him,
But said, with plaintive pout,
"I've tried it since eleven, Jim,
And still it won't come out."

"I trust you've had a pleasant night—
Just look at that black queen,
The king is hidden out of sight—
I wonder where you've been."

"The landlord's called again today—
Oh, there's the ace at last—
He says we've really got to pay
Or move—the Jack's stuck fast."

"I wish when you intend to go
From home for two whole days
You'd leave a little money—Oh!
That red nine gives three plays."

The burglar tiptoed to the door
And out into the air;
He'd not the heart to burgle for
Her only solitaire.

WEDDINGS.

Robert Lynn McCormick and Miss Anna J. Steen were married at the home of the bride's parents in Clint, Texas, Thursday evening, Rev. H. P. Bond, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, of Clint, officiating. The wedding was private, the parents of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lander of El Paso, and the bride's father, being the only ones present. Refreshments were served following the ceremony.

The groom is a young farmer of the mesa and the bride was a teacher in the Clint public school last year.

Henry Causebrook, connected with the Darbyshire-Harvey Iron and Machinery company, is soon to be married to Miss Clara Stricker of Greenfield, Mass. Miss Stricker is a musician.

A marriage among the officers of the Y. M. C. A. is of much interest to the many friends of the institution, and it is not generally known that one has occurred recently, so quietly did the young man return with his bride. On August 16, H. Loren Mitchell, the physical director, was married to Miss Kathleen Albino, at Spring Valley, Minnesota, returning to El Paso on August 25. They will be at home temporarily at 729 Mundy avenue.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS.

The Women's Charity association will hold the first meeting of the coming year's work Wednesday afternoon in the rooms of the Y. W. C. A. Refreshments will be given of the summer's work carried on by Miss Grace Franklin. Other reports will also be given.

The Ladies of the Macabees were entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. H. A. Magruder, at her home on Mundy avenue. A game called "hearts" was played with small wooden cubes, having the letters of the word on the sides. The one most fortunate in spelling the word the greater number of times was Dr. L. E. Bishop, the first prize—a beautiful hand painted box—being the reward.

The second prize, a cut glass bowl, was won by Mrs. C. N. Holford. The consolation consolation Mrs. Fabian Ices and cakes were served late in the afternoon. These meetings will be held regularly henceforth in the Fraternal Brotherhood hall, every Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. Mrs. Magruder was assisted by Mesdames Charles Sawyer and J. M. Burroughs.

Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mesdames Mae Scott, Wm. Graves, Rosalie Ashley, Charles Sawyer, J. F. Wadell, C. E. Sabin, Broyles, Osborn, Fisher, Larrabee, Holford, Ables, J. M. Burroughs, H. J. Darwood, Whitehead, L. E. Bishop and Miss Ketchum.

Wednesday night Harmony chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star gave their annual entertainment in honor of Robert Morris, the founder of the order, at the home of Mrs. M. Hawks, 1116 Arizona street. The parlors were effectively decorated with cut flowers and ferns, and here a most delightful concert was given. Following was the program:

Piano solo—Miss Florence Klein.
Address—Robert Morris—Mrs. J. M. Sanburn.
Vocal solo—Miss Annie Shutz.
Piano—Miss Adele Paxton.
Vocal—Miss Anderson.
Duet—Misses Shutz and Paxton.

Vocal—Miss Annie Shutz.
Quartet—Misses Christy, Paxton, and Christy and Mr. Hewitt.

After the program ice cream and cake were served on the lawn, which was lighted with many rows of electric lanterns shaded with artistic Japanese lanterns.

The punch bowl, which was a most attractive point during the evening, was provided over by Mesdames Alma Anderson and Florence Klein. A large number were present.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

The Young People's Social club of St. Clement's had a most enjoyable time at the initial meeting of the season Thursday night at the parish house. To break any formality there might be, a mysterious piece of paper with a name written on it was pinned on the back of each one, and guessing what it was, soon established a spirit of fun that intensified in the game of "Old Dan Tucker" that followed.

After that, the men were put to work threading needles and sewing a button on a piece of cloth, the nearest work receiving a prize.

Dr. E. C. Prentiss demonstrated unusual quickness and ability, and received the prize, a tiny billiken. Papers were then passed with the names of fruits, the letters transposed, to be corrected.

A short musical program followed, in which Dr. E. C. Prentiss delighted his hearers with a piano solo, and Miss Christy Hogarth sang most beautifully "My Rosary" and an encore.

Following this was a unique game of helpful hints, all of which will be a source of useful information to the guest of honor, as she was supposed to commit them all to memory to serve her in her new room. The souvenirs were dainty fairy slippers in blue and gold.

The guests were: Mesdames J. D. Love, C. H. Campbell, J. P. McFadyen, W. R. Brown, Wm. Gady, Joseph Thew, Lock Tucker, R. L. Daniels, W. L. Watson, A. J. Andreas, Sarah M. Hale, G. O. Willis, Robert Walsh, Wm. Caples, G. R. Calman, T. Grace, G. F. Tilton and Miss Calman.

Mrs. J. P. McFadyen was the pleasant hostess of an informal party Thursday night at her apartments in the Rossett flats in honor of Mrs. Adam Hare, daughter and son, Miss Mabel and Louis Hare, of St. Louis, who are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hockett.

Music and conversation passed a most delightful time, the guests enjoying especially the splendid musical ability of Mrs. Joseph Thew.

The evening ended with the serving of dainty refreshments. Mrs. McFadyen's guests were: Mrs. Adam Hare, Mabel and Louis Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hockett and Sidney Hockett, Jr., Mrs. Flora Graves, Mrs. Joseph Thew, Mrs. J. L. Campbell and Mrs. E. M. Fraser.

The Misses Effie Warren and Eunice Anderson delightfully entertained at a marshmallow roast on the mesa last Friday night, complimentary to the Misses Nell, Ruth, Arnett and Dorothy Meyers, who are the guests of Miss Effie Warren. After toasting marshmallows, a lunch was enjoyed by Mesdames Effie Warren, Nell Ruth Arnett, Dorothy Meyers, Loytie Mae Collier, Dorothy Martin, Alice Pashal, Ruth Hodges, Myrtle Langford, Isabelle Yost, Joseph Yost, Ethel Langford, Hazel Robinson, Fred Carachrist, Fred Carroll, Bruce Steele, Nelson Rice, Ralph Hoffman, Clifford Anderson, Seymour Thurmond, Earl Murphy, Roscoe Anderson, Lynn Mee, Halff Langford and Brown Pascal.

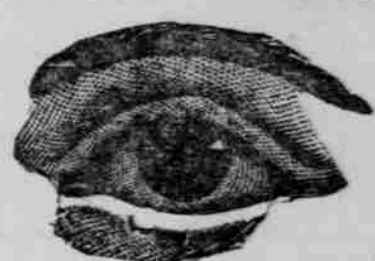

PARTIES.

Mrs. J. D. Love was the inspiration of one of the most beautiful surprise parties of the summer season. The hostesses were Mesdames C. H. Campbell, J. P. McFadyen and J. C. Schuller, and the party was given in the home of Mrs. Schuller, which was turned, for the occasion, into a picture study of forgetment blue.

Tail races of white Japanese chrysanthemums were placed in effective positions like soft high lights in a fine picture. The affair was in the nature of a neighborhood farewell, as Mrs. Love will soon remove to her new home on Rio Grande street. Piano numbers by Mrs. Thew were especially fine. Much merriment was afforded the guests when they were called to the dining room soon after assembling, to Claret punch was dispensed during the evening, followed later by more substantial refreshments of ices and cakes, served on the lawn, which was softly lighted with pretty Chinese lanterns.

Miss Truesdell's guests were: Mesdames Lillian Booth, Marguerite and Katherine McGinnis, Rosemary Bennett, Ethel Drita German, Mary Andrews, Edith OSTEOPATHY, THE NATURAL SYSTEM.

Local Osteopathic writer says an osteopath is such from choice—He could just as easily have been an allopath, homeopath or eclectic. Dr. J. J. Pierce in an article contributed to "The Osteopathic Physician," of Chicago, says in part:

If he is properly equipped the osteopath is just as safe in the conduct of a critical case as the allopath, homeopath or eclectic. He will not promise impossible cures nor claim to heal the really blind and raise the dead.

He is an advanced thinker and is not intolerant of another's opinion in therapeutics. He believes in surgery when surgery is necessary. He walks in advance rank of aseptics in the conduct of contagious diseases, and sanitary measures.

The keynote of osteopathic therapeutics is adjustment. Abnormal relation of any of the body tissues means abnormal or perverted action of nerves with consequent perversion of organic function. Adjustment of abnormal relation means restoration of organic function. The properly equipped osteopath adjusts such relations. Some one, Opie Reed, I believe, said: "Osteopathy is all right if the osteopath is all right."

If an osteopath is all right he is recognized by the state laws, the legitimate associations and the osteopathic colleges. He does not promise the impossible nor belittle the scientific findings of opposing schools.

Beatrice Fairfax Asks Do You Wear a Hobble Skirt?

Do you wear a "hobble" skirt?

If you do you had better stand in front of a full length mirror some day and study your walk. If you are fat you will waddle. If you are thin you will hop.

There is no such thing as a natural walk in a hobble skirt. From time to time we women lose our heads and follow some hideous and grotesque fashion, but it has been left for the hobble skirt to put the finishing touch to our idiosyncrasy in that direction.

The other day I watched a woman in a hobble skirt try to run for a ferry. She hopped, she waddled, she scuffled and she looked supremely ridiculous and they took in every word she said.

"By Jove," said a man who was standing at the stern of the boat, "isn't that the limit; if women only knew how ugly they look in those skirts they wouldn't wear them."

Then will come the temptation to the girl with small means. She will long for a hobble skirt and will spend her money on a garment that will be out of fashion in three months.

There will not be enough material in it to make over in another style and she will have an old fashioned skirt on hand.

Its Greatest Drawback. But the most important drawback to the hobble skirt is not in its lack of beauty, but its immodesty. No tight-fitting garment of that kind is modest or ladylike.

You do not find the really well-dressed women wearing them. The woman who dresses well does not care to see a hundred other gowns exactly like hers during any one walk.

If you walk up Broadway or Fifth avenue these days every second woman you meet is struggling along handicapped by a hobble skirt.

But if you walk into the Casino at Newport, where the best-dressed women in the world are to be seen, you will not see the hobble; those women know better.

Within a few weeks the shops will be full of Fall caprices.

You will begin to feel that you must save your money to buy your winter outfit.

That's a good idea. Save all you can and don't spend all you save, but do spend that little wisely.

The wise woman buys a becoming suit, rather than a stylish one. Other women may notice the style of your clothes, but men will notice the becomingness of them.

When a man compliments you on your new hat you may know he thinks you look nice in it. But a woman looks at the hat, not at you.

Men Object to This Freak. That's the truth, my sisters, believe it or not as you will.

I have not heard one man speak favorably of the hobble skirt, they all make fun of it, and tell the women they like to avoid it.

Some day I'm going to ask the editors and artists of this paper to give me an idea of the kind of dress things they admire, and the artists to make some pictures. There will be some wild and fantastic pointers on fashion, but also some grains of common sense.

Then I'll let you into the secret, and if you care to follow their suggestions you may.

Perhaps, Miss Brinkley will make some pictures showing how women like to dress.

There will be fat ladies and thin ladies and middling ladies, so we'll all be in it.

A Coming Event of Merit
